INJUNCTION SUIT PAPERS SERVED ON K. OF C.

To Prevent the Order Using the Original Member Fund.

New Haven, Conn., May 20.—Papers in an injunction suit were served today on the Knights of Columbus, to prevent the order from using any part of the "original member" fund of $651,000, or the interest thereon, the total amount involved being about $300,000, in the payment of death benefits or any other way. The case is made returnable to the June term of the Fairfield county superior court.

The case is brought by Judge Patrick Kane of Bridgeport, and others, whose membership dates back prior to 1902, when the present plan of assessments was adopted. These "original members" claim that the $651,000, and interest thereon, accumulated prior to 1902, should be used only for the benefit of those members that contributed directly to that fund. A similar suit recently went to the supreme court of Connecticut, where the plaintiff failed to receive any standing in court; and that suit was decided against him.

SEDERQUIST, BARRY & CO. FAIL.

Announcement That Consolidated Exchange Firm is in Trouble.

New York, May 20.—Suspension of the firm of Sederquist, Barry & Co., No. 23 Broadway, was announced today. The firm was organized for the purpose of building and equipping the institution and putting it on a good working basis. In answer to questions put by the committee some of the speakers were of the opinion that the best way to raise the required amount would be either by a bond issue or state tax. It was explained, however, that if the bill should be passed with the appropriation it would not necessarily mean that the money would be called for at once, but simply that the commission or committee which might be appointed to take the work in hand could begin to formulate their working plans.

The question of the establishment of county homes for the care and treatment of tuberculous was also taken up before the committee. Both this and the preceding bill had been passed upon by other committees, but because they carried appropriations had been referred to the appropriation committee. Representative Knight, house chairman of the committee on humane institutions, said that his committee had favored this bill and it had been left to him to put it into proper shape, after certain amendments had been added. Of looking over the bill he found that one amendment which all of the committee had favored had been omitted, he therefore would present it to this committee. The amendment specified the manner in which the charges for care and treatment at the homes should be met and that the minimum charge in any case should not be less than $2.

The police attempted to intervene, but were met with a storm of missiles, including stones, glass and chairs snatched up from nearby cafes. Then the Courassiers appeared and order was restored.
